

OEM Research Product Offerings

Hellabio is highly experienced in developing and producing all soft and hardware agarose gel electrophoresis products.

Our current OEM client mainly includes companies in clinical diagnostics [Immunology, Biochemistry, Hematology ect]

Hellabio can customize all kinds of the products to meet any required technical characteristics and deliver parts or complete products including private labeled packaging and instructions for use.

There must be particularly stressed that Hellabio Support Team takes care of all end user support and guarantees the perfect cooperation.

For any detailed additional information on OEM product capabilities, don't hesitate to contact Hellabio [hellabio@hellabio.com]